ALL OHIO AIR TOUR

Checking the route and stops was the mission of the Pathfinder crew which left Port Columbus Thursday morning, Lloyd D. Bower, of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, Dewey Noyes, Cleveland, Ohio, pilot, Theodore Hubbell, Cincinnati, co-pilot, and Robert N. Merryland comprising the Pathfinder crew.

These men check and map out the route and landing fields of the cities to be visited by the planes of the All Ohio Air Tour which will leave Port Columbus on Aug. 21 at 8:30 a. m. The plane used by the checking crew is Lockheed Vega monoplane.

Planes entered in the All Ohio Air Tour will leave Port Columbus at 8:30 a. m., August 21, and will pass over Springfield and intermediate airports, making the first landing at Troy at 10 a. m. The flight will then go over Greenville Vandalia, Dayton and Middletown and landing at Hamilton at 12:45 for lunch.

The planes will fly from Hamilton to Lunken Airport, Cincinnati, where the all-metal Flamingo factory will be inspected, and then proceed to Portsmouth for the first overnight stop.

Leaving Portsmouth at 9 a. m. on the second day of the tour, the planes will pass over Chillicothe, Circleville, Lancaster, Coshocton, New Philadelphia and Canton. At 12:45 they will arrive at Alliance for lunch.

The tour will then take them south over East Liverpool, Warren, stopping at Akron, and then flying over Ashland, Wooster, Mansfield and Bucyrus to Marion for the second overnight stop.

On the third day the tour will pass over Kenton, Lima, Defiance, Findlay, Fostoria, Fremont, Toledo, Cedar Point and to Lorain for the overnight stop. On the following day the tour leaves Lorain and will arrive at the Municipal airport, Cleveland at 10:15 a. m. for the start of the National Air races.

The committee in charge of the tour held entries to 25 planes because of the limited landing facilities at many of airports on the route. The planes will land only where airports are considered large enough for the fleet of planes.

This tour is scheduled to pass over Circleville Aug. 22 at 9:55 a. m.

ZEPPELIN CO. OPENS SCHOOL

The first civilian aviation school for the operation of lighter-than-air craft has been opened at Akron under the auspices of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Co. Ground courses are conducted by the staff of the University of Akron. A course in free ballooning, requiring seven flights, the last of which is a solo, is necessary before the student begins instructions on airships. CYRUS LOCHER ANSWERS CALL AT CLEVELAND

Former U. S. Senator Succumbs Saturday Following Operation.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17—(INS.)—Former United States Senator Cyrus Locher, 51, died at St. Luke's hospital here today following a relapse late Friday from the effects of an operation for gall stones two weeks ago.

A third blood transfusion operation was performed early this morning but the former senator failed to rally.

Mrs. Locher, his wife, was at his bedside when the end came.

Although his condition was considered serious, hope had been held for his recovery until late last night when the ex-senator suffered a relapse, accompanied by a complete collapse.

BORN ON FARM

Senator Locher, who was born on a farm in Putnam-co on March 8, 1878, the son of Christian and Fanny Locher, came to Cleveland as a student at Western Reserve University. He remainer here after graduation to take up a long and active political career.

In 1908 he was appointed assistant law director under former Secretary of War Newton D. Baker by Mayor Tom L. Johnson. After two years at this post he resigned to take up private law practice and to become an instructor in the Western Reserve law school.

Locher was elected county prosecutor in 1912. He held that office for two terms after which he became president of the John Marshall law school here.

APPOINTED SENATOR

Gov. A. V. Donahey appointed Locher state director of commerce in 1923. Later he quit that position to become United States Senator to fill the unexpired term of Senator Frank B. Willis, who died at Delaware, O., during a political meeting.

After the expiration of the term, Sen. Locher ran for the Democratic nomination to the office but was defeated by a narrow margin.

During his regime as state commerce director, Locher's outstanding act was his edict banning the sale of Florida real estate in Ohio at the time of the great Florida boom.

FARMING WAS HOBBY

Locher's political carrer was closely associated with that of Gov. Donahey. They were close friends.

Farming and politics were Locher's self-admitted hobbies throughout life. He owned several hundreds of acres of farm land in Illinois and Minnesota in addition to farms in Ohio.

Poker Players Are Warned To Watch Elbows

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—(INS.)—While you are being careful to keep your face straight and clear of tell-tale grimaces that would reveal your character—or perhaps two low pairs—along comes a Columbia University instructor and learns your secrets from the way your elbows react.

William H. Blake, instructor in educational dramatics at Columbia, has got the thing down to a science.

While most people realize their facial expressions reveal their dominant characteristics, they forget that posture can give them away as readily—to a trained observer, he explained today.

"The inward tendency of legs and elbows nearly always expresses weakness and uncertainty; the outward tendency, self-confidence—and so on until "poker face" becomes a myth and two low pair are worth just that.

COOPER WILL BREAK GROUND

Mechanical equipment such as heating and plumbing, which totals $170,000 was also contracted.

Construction of the institute culminates plans which were originated nearly eight years ago. The site, purchased in 1927 for $249,450, includes 1,929 acres. Fourteen hundred acres of this land may be cultivated. Gustave Drach, of Cincinnati is the architect.

WAR DRUMS IN EAST SOUNDED

China and Russia Increase Troops Following Frontier Clashes.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The ominous roll of war drums in the far east grew louder today.

Despite pressure from the outside world for an early peaceful settlement of the Sino-Russian controversy over the control of the Chinese Eastern railway, advices received here from China indicate that an open break between the Nanking and Soviet governments is imminent.

The Nanking government is reported to have instructed its representatives to notify the nations which are signatories to the Kellogg pact that Russian troops have invaded Manchuria.

Elaborate preparations to forestall a Soviet offensive are being made by the Nanking government. Sixty thousand Chinese troops have been ordered to reinforce those already stationed at the Siberia-Manchurian frontier.

Clashes between outlying detachments of main bodies of the opposing armies on the frontier are frequently reported.

The officials of the Soviet government are reported determined that their demands regarding the Chinese Eastern railway be met with promptly.

2 ASHVILLE MEN IN AUTO MISHAPS

Two automobile accidents have occurred in Ahsville recently. Escar Miller, of Ashville, suffered the fracture of a thumb, wrist and three ribs when his automobile ran into a tree at South Bloomfield Thursday evening.

ROAD CONTRACT TO BE LET NEXT WEEK

The contract to pave the Scioto Trail from the corporation line south of town to the Ross-co line will probably be let sometime next week, according to County Auditor Bryce Briggs.

A feature of this paving is that instead of the white lines being drawn on the bricks, there will be a white brick between every sixth brick, making the road marking stand out more plainly.

SCANT ACTION, MUCH TALK IN NAVAL PARLEY

Little Actual Accomplishment Seen In U. S.-England Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—Despite the "substantial progress" regularly announced in the negotiations toward a British-American naval agreement, it was learned today that up to the present there has been considerably more vocal optimism by "the statesmen" than actual acomplishment by the experts.

Instead of an agreement being appreciably near, as might be inferred from some of the announcements in London and Washington, the "brass tack" stage of negotiations has not even been reached. This is true at any rate concerning cruisers, which comprise the only real naval difference there has been between the two countries.

REDUCTION REMOTE

At no stage of the negotiations has British conceded or intimated willingness to materially reduce her present cruiser tonnage. If the United States is to attain anything even remotely approaching cruiser parity, this inevitably means that President Hoover must proceed with the suspended American program, calling for 15 new vessels in the next three years, and even go beyond that.

Great Britain's cruiser preponderance is so great that even the addition of 15 new vessels already authorized by congress will still leave the American navy a good bit behind. The American navy would then have 305,000 tons of modern cruisers, as against some 407,000 tons for the British.

U. S. PROPOSAL REJECTED

It is more or less significant to note, also, that at the abortive Geneva conference, the British rejected an American proposal to allow each country between 250,000 and 300,000 tons of cruisers on the ground that this tonnage was below the minimum required for empire safety. At that time the British announced their minimum requirement called for fifteen 10,000 ton cruisers, and 55 cruisers that would mount 6-inch guns, or a total cruiser tonnage of some 340,000. Below that figure no British statesman or expert has indicated any willingness to go, which gives some idea of the difficulty confronting President Hoover in his efforts to reduce naval armament.

653 Gentlemen Prefer Her, Blonde Tells Brussells Police; Married 50

Marriage Record Revealed When Angry Ex-Husband Stops Plan For 51st.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 17—When Adrienne Guyot, a ravishing blonde, calmly informed the Brussels police that she had been married to 50 husbands, they were politely incredulous, when she admitted having ben engaged 652 times they were knocked for a row of romances.

All records for much marriage among women of all ages, colors and nationalities were broken by Adrienne, who is under arrest charged with bigamy. According to the confession the police claim Adrienne has made, she is a super-polygamist.

Hymen, the pagan deity who is understood to preside over nuptial affairs, has been entitled to time and a half for overtime ever since Adrienne cast her devastating orbs upon the first of her matrimonial victims.

GETS EARLY START

Th life story of this pulchrotudinous prisoner promises to be the most extraordinary ever brought to light. She was born in Mons of humble parents, but early in life it began to dawn upon her that her physical qualifications were such as to keep her engaged if not actually married. It was no trick for Adrienne to have the pick of the herd at her side begging for commands and favors.

Early in life Adrienne decided that Paris was the place for her. It was. She had not been in the French metropolis very long until she was married to a wealthy man and she not yet 19. It appealed to Adrienne as a pretty good racket. She liked fine clothes and luxurious living quarters and high priced food as well as plenty of jeweled geegaws.

EASY TO MARRY

Adrienne developed a passion for gambling and her first romance soon collapsed. Then she began a round of the capitals and fashionable watering places of Europe and she found out just how easy it was to marry a rich man.

An American is reported to have settled a fortune upon her. Romancing and gambling proved too costly and eventually Adrienne found herself without either a husband, who was in active harness, or funds. She came to Brussels and was about to contract her 51st marriage when an ex-husband recognized her. This was not surprising in view of the number of her ex-husbands scattered over Europe. But this one was vindictive and turned her over to the police.

Adrienne, despite her admissions, claims she has done no wrong and wants the police to let her go so she can get married and settle down.

4 PERISH, 2 DYING IN DWELLING FIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 17—Marshal French 27, and his 18-months-old daughter, Esther were dying at St Margaret's hospital today and four other children, one of them a neighbor's child, were dead as result of burns received in a tragic fire which destroyed their home here.

The dead were: George, 5 months old; Marshall Jr 3, and Charles, 4, children of French, and Joseph Messier, 14 years.

GREAT CRAFT APPROACHING BATTLE LINE

Steady Progress Eastward Being Made Despite Severe Arctic Cold.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 17—The Graf Zeppelin wirelessed her position at 7 a. m. ship's time (approximately 9 p. m. Friday New York daylight saving time) as being 64 north latitude and 95 east longitude. She is nearing the area contested by Chinese and Soviet troops.

This position indicated that the Graf had turned slightly northward as it was only about 250 miles south of the Arctic circle. The position lies over a desolate, uninhabited region of north-central Siberia, 800 miles northwest of Irkutsk and approximately 2,600 miles in an airline from Tokio.

JOURNEY HALF OVER

MOSCOW, Aug. 17—With more than half of her journey behind her, the Graf Zeppelin at dawn today was soaring gallantly over the steppes of Siberia on her trail-blazing flight from Friedrichshafen to Tokio.

Last reports of her progress received here indicated that the huge air liner had already covered more than 3,300 miles since leaving her home hangar on the second leg of her round-the-world flight.

Her position was reported here by the Ekaterinburg (Sverdlovsk) wireless station maintained by the Soviet Association of Friends of Aviation.

NEAR ARCTIC CIRCLE

She was within 300 miles of the Arctic circle and apparently heading on a northeast course toward Turuchansk, possibly to take advantage of favorable following winds.

The 22 passengers and 41 of the crew of the airship are now encountering the coldest part of the Graf's journey. At its last reported position the Graf was more northerly than at any time on her flight so far.

The Zeppelin continues to maintain an average speed of more than 70 miles an hour, judging from reports of her progress.

If she maintains the same steady, distance-eating pace on the remainder of her journey, the huge craft will easily arrive at Tokio within the 120 hours set as a minimum by Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander.

'SUN GOD' IS STILL ALOFT

Spends Night Over Rock Springs, Wyo., Waiting For Refueling Plane.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—The Spokane "Sun God" left Rock Springs, Wyo., at 6:05 a. m., today after hovering over that city for more than 12 hours in an attempt to refuel.

The plane, piloted by Nick Mamer and Art Walker, was headed for Cheyenne, where another refueling will be attempted before the endurance flyers start for Omaha, Cleveland and New York City.

Several refueling attempts at Rock Springs were unsuccessful because the hose broke or was cut by the propellor of the "Sun God."

The "Sun God" was expected here at about 8:15 this morning.

U. S. STORE WILL OPEN ON AUG. 24

Preparations are now being rushed for the opening of the United States store which will make its new home in the recently remodeled building on W. Main-st. According to H D. Webster, manager of the local store, the grand opening of the store will probably take place on Saturday, Aug. 24.

Due credit must be awarded Harry Clifton for remodeling and making such a fine looking building out of the old Chappaleer building. Carpenters are now working in the building fixing it, shelves and preparing a display window.

AMANDA TO MISS FALL FESTIVAL

The Amanda Fall Festival sponsored by the American Legion post there, has been quite an affair in the past two years, but will not be held this fall, according to statement of one of the former committeemen, the compensation resulting not being sufficient for the amount of work involved.

The event was always looked forward to by many Fairfielders as a sort of home-coming week, and drew large crowds.

Misses Ruth and Margaret Long are spending the week-end in Chillicothe as guests of Miss Beatrice Smith.

2 ASHVILLE MEN IN AUTO MISHAPS

Two automobile accidents have occurred in Ahsville recently. Escar Miller, of Ashville, suffered the fracture of a thumb, wrist and three ribs when his automobile ran into a tree at South Bloomfield Thursday evening.

When Jonathan Hay, of Ashville, attempted to pass a Ford Brothers' truck loaded with hay, his auto struck a horse owned by J. Messick and then crashed into the auto of Stanley Smith, it is reported. Only the horse was injured, suffering a cut on its neck that required ten stitches to close.

ROAD CONTRACT TO BE LET NEXT WEEK

The contract to pave the Scioto Trail from the corporation line south of town to the Ross-co line will probably be let sometime next week, according to County Auditor Bryce Briggs.

A feature of this paving is that instead of the white lines being drawn on the bricks, there will be a white brick between every sixth brick, making the road marking stand out more plainly.

SCANT ACTION, MUCH TALK IN NAVAL PARLEY

Little Actual Accomplishment Seen In U. S.-England Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17—Despite the "substantial progress" regularly announced in the negotiations toward a British-American naval agreement, it was learned today that up to the present there has been considerably more vocal optimism by "the statesmen" than actual acomplishment by the experts.

Instead of an agreement being appreciably near, as might be inferred from some of the announcements in London and Washington, the "brass tack" stage of negotiations has not even been reached. This is true at any rate concerning cruisers, which comprise the only real naval difference there has been between the two countries.

REDUCTION REMOTE

At no stage of the negotiations has British conceded or intimated willingness to materially reduce her present cruiser tonnage. If the United States is to attain anything even remotely approaching cruiser parity, this inevitably means that President Hoover must proceed with the suspended American program, calling for 15 new vessels in the next three years, and even go beyond that.

Great Britain's cruiser preponderance is so great that even the addition of 15 new vessels already authorized by congress will still leave the American navy a good bit behind. The American navy would then have 305,000 tons of modern cruisers, as against some 407,000 tons for the British.

U. S. PROPOSAL REJECTED

It is more or less significant to note, also, that at the abortive Geneva conference, the British rejected an American proposal to allow each country between 250,000 and 300,000 tons of cruisers on the ground that this tonnage was below the minimum required for empire safety. At that time the British announced their minimum requirement called for fifteen 10,000 ton cruisers, and 55 cruisers that would mount 6-inch guns, or a total cruiser tonnage of some 340,000. Below that figure no British statesman or expert has indicated any willingness to go, which gives some idea of the difficulty confronting President Hoover in his efforts to reduce naval armament.

DEATHS LEAD JULY BIRTHS

Grim Reaper Ahead of Stork In Pickaway-Co Almost Two To One.

Chances of life or death in Circleville and Pickaway-co were almost two to one in favor of the latter, according to July figures. Records at the health commissioner's office show there were 22 deaths reported as against 14 births in July.

Of the births a great majority of them were scattered through the different townships in the county, while the deaths were mostly in the towns and villages.

New additions came to the families of Eldon Fullen, Muhlenberg-twp; Delmas Terflinger, New Holland; Loren J. Vincent, Perry-twp; Everett Ater, New Holland; Wesley Graves, Pickaway-twp; Clarence Nungester, Pickaway-twp; Peary Rapp, Jackson-twp; Herbert Marks, Circleville-twp; Arthur Steele, Circleville-twp; Jasper Bozeman and Harold Johnson of Harrison-twp; Jay Welch and Floyd Riley of Monroe-twp; Martin Hanson and Charles D. Helwagen of Deercreek-twp.

Quite a few of the deaths resulted from contagious diseases.

GET JUDGMENTS

Judgments by confession have been obtained in the Pickaway-co common pleas court by two Circleville banks against Elliott E. and Ella S. Crites, of Circleville. A judgement for $10,600 was obtained by the Third National bank and one for $10,000 by the Frst National bank. The judgements were on promissory notes.

653 Gentlemen Prefer Her, Blonde Tells Brussells Police; Married 50

Marriage Record Revealed When Angry Ex-Husband Stops Plan For 51st.

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Aug. 17—When Adrienne Guyot, a ravishing blonde, calmly informed the Brussels police that she had been married to 50 husbands, they were politely incredulous, when she admitted having ben engaged 652 times they were knocked for a row of romances.

All records for much marriage among women of all ages, colors and nationalities were broken by Adrienne, who is under arrest charged with bigamy. According to the confession the police claim Adrienne has made, she is a super-polygamist.

Hymen, the pagan deity who is understood to preside over nuptial affairs, has been entitled to time and a half for overtime ever since Adrienne cast her devastating orbs upon the first of her matrimonial victims.

GETS EARLY START

Th life story of this pulchrotudinous prisoner promises to be the most extraordinary ever brought to light. She was born in Mons of humble parents, but early in life it began to dawn upon her that her physical qualifications were such as to keep her engaged if not actually married. It was no trick for Adrienne to have the pick of the herd at her side begging for commands and favors.

Early in life Adrienne decided that Paris was the place for her. It was. She had not been in the French metropolis very long until she was married to a wealthy man and she not yet 19. It appealed to Adrienne as a pretty good racket. She liked fine clothes and luxurious living quarters and high priced food as well as plenty of jeweled geegaws.

EASY TO MARRY

Adrienne developed a passion for gambling and her first romance soon collapsed. Then she began a round of the capitals and fashionable watering places of Europe and she found out just how easy it was to marry a rich man.

An American is reported to have settled a fortune upon her. Romancing and gambling proved too costly and eventually Adrienne found herself without either a husband, who was in active harness, or funds. She came to Brussels and was about to contract her 51st marriage when an ex-husband recognized her. This was not surprising in view of the number of her ex-husbands scattered over Europe. But this one was vindictive and turned her over to the police.

Adrienne, despite her admissions, claims she has done no wrong and wants the police to let her go so she can get married and settle down.

'RUM PIRATE' IS EXECUTED

Alderman Pays With Life For Slaying of Two Coast Guardsmen.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Aug. 17—While the first streak of dawn spread over the United States coast guard base here, James H. Alderman, 50, "rum pirate" was taken from his cell to a scaffold erected in a metal airplane hangar and hanged for the murder of two coast guardsmen.

The trap was sprung at 6:04 a. m., and 15 minutes later his body was removed from the death chamber, and will be delivered to relatives at Miami for burial.

The execution was shrouded with secrecy, everyon being barred from the station grounds except th official witnesses.

FAIRFIELD-CO HOME HEADS RESIGN JOBS

LANCASTER, O., Aug. 17—Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Courtright, superintendent and matron of the Fairfield-co Children's Home, tendered their resignations to the board of trustees here yesterday.

The Courtrights have served in the Children's Home since 1921. They expect to retire October 1.

4 PERISH, 2 DYING IN DWELLING FIRE

CONCORD, N. H., Aug. 17.—Marshal French, 27, and his 18-months-old daughter, Esther, were dying at St. Margaret's hospital today, and four other children, one of them a neighbor's child, were dead as result of burns received in a tragic fire which destroyed their home here.

The dead were: George, 5 months old; Marshall, Jr., 3; and Charles, 4, children of French, and Joseph Messier, 14 years.

U. S. STORE WILL OPEN ON AUG. 24

Preparations are now being rushed for the opening of the United States store which will make its new home in the recntly remodeled building on W. Main-st. According to H. D. Webster, manager of the local store, the grand opening of the store will probably take place on Saturday, Aug. 24.

Due credit must be awarded Harry Clifton for remodeling and making such a fine looking building out of the old Chappalear building. Carpenters are now working in the building fixing in shelves and preparing a display window.

GREAT CRAFT APPROACHING BATTLE LINE

Steady Progress Eastward Being Made Despite Severe Arctic Cold.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 17—The Graf Zeppelin wirelessed her position at 7 a. m. ship's time (approximately 9 p. m. Friday New York daylight saving time) as being 64 north latitude and 95 east longitude. She is nearing the area contested by Chinese and Soviet troops.

This position indicated that the Graf had turned slightly northward as it was only about 250 miles south of the Arctic circle. The position lies over a desolate, uninhabited region of north-central Siberia, 800 miles northwest of Irkutsk and approximately 2,600 miles in an airline from Tokio.

JOURNEY HALF OVER

MOSCOW, Aug. 17—With more than half of her journey behind her, the Graf Zeppelin at dawn today was soaring gallantly over the steppes of Siberia on her trail-blazing flight from Friedrichshafen to Tokio.

Last reports of her progress received here indicated that the huge air liner had already covered more than 3,300 miles since leaving her home hangar on the second leg of her round-the-world flight.

Her position was reported here by the Ekaterinburg (Sverdiovsk) wireless station maintained by the Soviet Association of Friends of Aviation.

NEAR ARCTIC CIRCLE

She was within 300 miles of the Arctic circle and apparently heading on a northeast course toward Turuchansk, possibly to take advantage of favorable following winds.

The 22 passengers and 41 of the crew of the airship are now encountering the coldest part of the Graf's journey. At its last reported position the Graf was more northerly than at any time on her flight so far.

The Zeppelin continues to maintain an average speed of more than 70 miles an hour, judging from reports of her progress.

If she maintains the same steady, distance-eating pace on the remainder of her journey, the huge craft will easily arrive at Tokio within the 120 hours set as a minimum by Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander.

'SUN GOD' IS STILL ALOFT

Spends Night Over Rock Springs, Wyo., Waiting For Refueling Plane.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Aug. 17.—(INS.)—The Spokane "Sun God" left Rock Springs, Wyo., at 6:05 a. m., today after hovering over that city for more than 12 hours in an attempt to refuel.

The plane, piloted by Nick Mamer and Art Walker, was headed for Cheyenne, where another refueling will be attempted before the endurance flyers start for Omaha, Cleveland and New York City.

Several refueling attempts at Rock Springs were unsuccessful because the hose broke or was cut by the propellor of the "Sun God.

The "Sun God" was expected here at about 8:15 this morning.

AMANDA TO MISS FALL FESTIVAL

The Amanda Fall Festival sponsored by the American Legion post there, has been quite an affair in the past two years, but will not be held this fall, according to statement of one of the former committeemen, the compensation resulting not being sufficient for the amount of work involved.

The event was always looked forward to by many Fairfielders as a sort of home-coming week, and drew large crowds.

Misses Ruth and Margaret Long are spending the week-end in Chillicothe as guests of Miss Beatrice Smith.

EAGLES PLAY PATASKALA IN SUNDAY GAME

Local Line-up To Be Changed When Teams Clash On Ashville Diamond.

Angry over the kind of ball they played and the spanking the Plain City Cubs gave them last Sunday, the local Eagles baseball club will go upon the field this Sunday determined to turn back the strong Pataskala aggregation on the short end of the score.

The Birds have a splendid chance this week to advance in the race, and if they win they will be either tied for first place or in second place one game behind the league leaders. The Dry Cleaners who are at the top in the race play the Plain City Cubs who are at present tied for second place with the Birds. It is expected that Plain City will defeat the league leaders and in event that they do and the Eagles defeats Pataskala there will be three teams tied for first place in the league.

The game will be played at Community Park in Ashville and another record crowd is expected to be on hand to witness it. Announcement was made by the club officials that all the remaining games on the Eagles schedule will be played at the Ashville grounds. The diamond there is a much better one and the town officials are keeping the out-field in condition. Players have been at a handicap here all season due to the condition of the diamond and the outfield.

BERGER, BEATTY BACK

The Eagle management is all pepped up over the fact that Cap- Berger will be back in the The Sunday with his big bat. ton to where he is regarded as the best in the league by all the base ball magnates and no doubt he will greatly strengthen the offensive work of the Birds. Fans will remember the little short fellow who played with the team early in the season that hit the ball to all corners of the lot

He was Emerson Beatty, and that Emerson Beatty will also be back in the lineup on the Eagle squad Sunday. He is regarded as one of the best young hitters ever to come from this section of the country and this lad has a splendid chance to go places and do things in the Base Ball World if he continues to show the stuff he is capable of displaying. The addition of these two men back on the squad will make the Birds a hard tribe for any team to stop.

PROMISES SHAKE-UP

The manager has promised a shake-up in the lineup for Sunday's game and fans will see several changes made in the personnel of the team. Berger will replace Miller behind the bat and Pettibone will be stationed at first base in Wolford's place. Munk Miller will perhaps be back at his old short stop position, while Ronemus will be benched from the outfield in favor of Ward or Davis. Young Beatty when he returns to the squad will likely be stationed in one of the outfield positions and it will not be surprising to see Pherson playing part of the game at first or second base. Downs the veteran Darbyville pitcher will be the starting pitcher in Sunday's game and he is expected to turn the visitors back in good shape.

HAS GOOD TEAM

The Pataskala team which opposes the Eagles Sundays is a strong dangerous aggregation and their team has been greatly strengthened since they made their last appearance in Circleville. They will doubtless put forth every effort to drop the Birds on the short end of the score while the locals will be out there fighting to draw nearer to the top in the race The game will be called at 2.30 prompt.

Real Brain Capacity Not Matter of Weight

Brain capacity does not increase with the ages, as far, at least, as historic periods go. Sir Arthur Keith, conservator of the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, was examining a skeleton which had been found in digging the foundations of a house at Purley, Surrey, and he said:

"This man was a Roman, a real Roman. His skull is quite different from the Roman-British skulls of 1500 years ago. It is a splendid head, and just beside it we found the skull of a child that must, in my opinion, have been the image of its father."

He measured it lovingly with a pair of calipers and made a light-hearted calculation:

"He has your brain capacity than mine. But what I would really like to know is, what did he do with it?"

The skeleton is to be sent to the London museum.—H. R. Campbell, the Vancouver Province.

Her Wrong Name

One of the most curious historical mistakes is that of calling Joan of Arc by that name instead of Jeanne d'Arc. No village or place called 'Arc' is connected with it.

A Greeting From the Governor

GOVERNOR MYERS Y. COOPER
For ten years President of the Ohio Fair Managers Association.

LATE in August each year Ohio becomes "fair minded" in keeping with the State Fair. It is as if, after a year of industry, progress and thrift, the people of our great state pause to contemplate the wonders wrought by God and man. The occasion is fraught with pride of commonwealth, the quest for knowledge and the spirit of carnival.

Ohio is one of the greatest states of a great country. It ranks among the leaders in widely divergent branches of human activity. The State Fair is the tangible evidence of our proudest boasts for Our State. Here may be seen and studied the best accomplishments of agriculture, industry, commerce.

The State Fair is predominantly agricultural in import, as it is intended to be by the law giving it existence, and the expectations of those who journey to the mecca from town and farm, far and near. The largest crowd in all history is expected to attend the approaching Ohio State Fair, at Columbus, August 26-31. With the most stupendous educational program in its long history, the fair has become a dozen times bigger than the biggest circus and the outstanding fair event of the country. It will be largely attended because it is to be so well worth attending.

Modern science in farming is one of the things that the State Fair is designed to teach. The Ohio State Fair has long since become an enduring institution, something essential to the farming industry, therefore necessary to banking, commerce and manufacturing.

The Ohio State Fair offers opportunity not only for the farmer's improvement and enjoyment, but promotes the interest and individual development of the farmers' wives and children. It tends to arouse a demand from the country for general civic improvement, better sanitation for the home, and sound schools and pleasant environment for the community. The Ohio State Fair is an immense university, where everybody can attend. Every Ohio citizen should enroll as a member of the Ohio State Fair Booster Club and make this year's State Fair bigger and better than ever.

As an official and active member of state and county fair organizations. I have been intimately affiliated or associated with fairs everywhere over the state for many years and it is my earnest hope and expectation that the 1929 State Fair will eclipse in attendance the record of all previous events of the kind.

MYERS Y. COOPER,
Governor of Ohio.

DUTCH DOWN IRISH SQUAD

Dumm's Team Beats Lynch's Outfit By Score of 8 To 3 Friday.

As the Hudson-Essex team from Chillicothe didn't show up at the Utilities field Friday evening, Frank Lynch and Roy Dumm organized teams calling themselves Lynch's Irish and Dumm's Dutch. The final score was 8 to 3 in favor of the Dutch.

According to spectators this was the best played game this season, as there was no arguments with the umpires or fighting about the game. Lynch pitched for his Irish and Dumm for the Dutch. Everything went quiet until the fifth inning when the Dutch, through some error of the Irish, drove in a run Nevertheless the Irish played very hard but they still didn't score. More errors followed on the part of the Irish and the Dutch followed in with two more runs.

Now the Irish were determined to score. Well they finally did bring in a run in the last of the ninth. They hit, hit and hit, which eventually meant two runs. As the case rested now the score was a tie, 3 to 3. But the Irish were sorely disappointed in the tenth inning, when to their great surprise, the Dutch scored three runs and then Barr drove in a home run. The Irish pitcher went up in the air and the game ended with the Dutch winning.

NOT HOW MUCH but HOW MUCH SATISFACTION

Two thoroughly practical considerations will surely draw you toward Oldsmobile—price and value. For high quality at low price is the fundamental reason for Oldsmobile's constantly growing success. But even price and value are overshadowed by the complete and lasting satisfaction that comes with Oldsmobile ownership.

Consider the price—only $875 for the two-door sedan. Compare what Oldsmobile offers you with what other cars offer. You will discover that it is doubtful economy to pay less than Oldsmobile's price . . . and unnecessary to pay more. For a car of lesser price will never bring you all that Oldsmobile offers . . . and you'll have to pay more than Oldsmobile's price to obtain the same fine qualities in another car.

Oldsmobile's big 62-horsepower high-compression engine provides ample power for every emergency—acceleration to take you out front when the signal light changes—speed to keep you there.

Exceptional provisions for durability and dependability are evident in every detail of chassis construction. A low center of gravity combined with balanced weight gives uncanny roadability. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers assure restful riding ease.

Examine the features of Oldsmobile's Fisher bodies. Test the wide, deep-cushioned seats. Note the glove-like fit of the soft upholstery fabrics—the luxurious quality of the materials used. Try the new comfort of the Fisher adjustable front seat.

Come and inspect this car. Drive it yourself. Compare its features with other cars. And when you have compared its price, and considered its value—keeping in mind that Oldsmobile stands high by a dollar-for-dollar measure . . . remember it stands even higher in the test of owner satisfaction.

The VIKING
—the new 90-degree Vee-eight at medium price—is built in the Oldsmobile factories by Oldsmobile craftsmen, and sold through Oldsmobile dealers. At $1595 for all models, f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Michigan, it is as outstanding in value in its field as the popular Oldsmobile Six, the fine car of low price.

TWO DOOR SEDAN
f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Michigan. Spare tire and bumpers extra.

Consider the Delivered Price
Consider the delivered price as well as the low price when comparing automobile values. Oldsmobile delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

THE ART OF RE-SHAPING LIFE

Guy Allan, a noted psychologist, says, "Worship is like a breathing spell in a long and arduous foot race, or the hour of roll call in a prolonged and hard fought battle. It is indeed so important, that one finds himself sometimes wondering how any of us can afford to do anything but educate ourselves in this art."

Professor Henry Nelson Wieman says: "The art of worship is the only suitable preparation for the greatest artistry in all the world, the art of reshaping the total vital processes of living."

What Are the Ways of Approach to Realize a Union of Protestant Churches?

At a recent institute called by the Christian Herald, attended by leading men of many denominations, the following plan was agreed upon:

"Two lines of progress seem immediately practicable, in both of which important steps are already being taken. (1)—The reunion of separated bodies of related denominational families; (2)—The strengthening of existing cooperative agencies to the point where instead of being largely consultative bodies, they become administrative bodies doing for all the churches the things that can best be done together. In the matter of practical cooperation, also, encouraging progress is being made. We need only to refer to the work now being done by the Federal Council and related state and city councils, the Foreign Missions Conference, the Home Missions Council, the International Council of Religious Education and other similar bodies which are carrying on effective cooperative work in many fields. What would it mean if in each of the larger centers of our country some commanding enterprise of interdenominational significance could be carried on, not by any individual denomination but in the name of the Church as a whole!"

The return from Captivity. Ezra 1:1-6; Psalm 126:1-6 for Sunday, Aug. 18.

1. Give some account of Babylon and its place in this ancient history?
2. What facts in this lesson from the basis of faith in divine providence?
3. What is the leading thought in this psalm?
4. What Christian enterprises are we called upon to enter?
5. What should we take with us into this service?
6. What fresh starts should be made in America?

Showden says, "Loss often leads to larger gain. Out of the pit of Babylon came forth a purified and disciplined people who were thereby prepared for their great mission in the world. Out of the lowest dregs of humanity, God can fashion saints. Trials and tears can be transmuted into strength and serenity, ashes into beauty and a spirit of heaviness into a garment of praise."

LESSON PRAYER

"We thank Thee, God, for the divine providence over-ruling the wickedness of men and bringing thy children out of hard places into a joyous fellowship with thee; help us to walk in the path of faith in God with the confidence that we too shall come into a happy fellowship with thee."

The return from Captivity. Ezra 1:1-6; Psalm 126:1-6 for Sunday Aug. 18th.

A new day arrives for the Israelites as Cyrus, the new Persian king is divinely influenced to arrange for the return of the exiles to rebuild the temple of worship at Jerusalem. God had a plan for the developing of his people and his plan succeeded: He proceeds by using men. Without Him we can do nothing and without us He will do nothing.

V. 1. "Jehovah stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, king of Persia, so that he made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom and put it also in writing." It may have been that Daniel recited prophecy of the return of the exiles to the king. The proclamation was read by heralds in all cities and written copies were left in all the center of government.

V. 2. "Thus saint Cyrus, king of Persia, all the kingdoms of the earth hath Jehovah, the God of heaven, given me; and he hath charged me to build him a house in Jerusalem, which is in Judah." The king exalted himself in that he thought of himself as ruler of all the world and he was interested in being honored by all, the new temple possibly being to his credit.

V. 3. "Whosoever there is among you of all his people his God be with him, and let him go to Jerusalem, which is Judah, and build the house of Jehovah." The return was to be voluntary—"let him go" Good-bye is a construction of "God be with you" It is God's plan to make worship fundamental when developing his children; the house of God cannot be ignored by anyone who wants to be a child of God.

V. 5. "Then rose up the heads of the father's houses of Judah and Benjamin and the priests and Levites even all those whose spirit God had stired to go up to build the house of Jehovah." It is God's plan that there should be consecrated followers, as seen in the phrase, "even all those whose spirit God had stirred."

V. 6 "And all they that were around them strengthened their hands with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, with beasts and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered." In returning to God we are not to go empty handed but are to take with us all our treasurers and use them in his service.

V. 1. "When Jenovah brought back those that returned to Zion, we were like unto them that dream." When anything wonderful takes place we speak of it as a dream. This wonderful event gave birth to psalms of praise.

Vs. 2. 3. "Then was our mouth filled with laughter and our tongue with singing; then said they among the nations Jehovah hath done great things for them. Jehovah hath done great things for us whereof we are glad." God loves the singing and laughter of the saints. Trust and wait! The memory of your present anguish will soon be forgotten in tumults of joy." F. B. Mayer.

Vs. 5, 6. "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy; he that goeth forth and weepeth bearing seed for sowing shall doubtless come sowing, the more delightsome the harvest. So it is with all human experiences.

.The world is an echo that returns to each of us just what we say.

EAGLES PLAY PATASKALA IN SUNDAY GAME

Local Line-up To Be Changed When Teams Clash On Ashville Diamond.

Angry over the kind of ball they played and the spanking the Plain City Cubs gave them last Sunday, the local Eagles baseball club will go upon the field this Sunday determined to turn back the strong Pataskala aggregation on the short end of the score.

The Birds have a splendid chance this week to advance in the race, and if they win they will be either tied for first place or in second place one game behind the league leaders. The Dry Cleaners who are at the top in the race play the Plain City Cubs who are at present tied for second place with the Birds. It is expected that Plain City will defeat the league leaders and in event that they do and the Eagles defeats Pataskala there will be three teams tied for first place in the league.

The game will be played at Community Park in Ashville and another record crowd is expected to be on hand to witness it. Announcement was made by the club officials that all the remaining games on the Eagles schedule will be played at the Ashville grounds. The diamond there is a much better one and the town officials are keeping the out-field in condition. Players have been at a handicap here all season due to the condition of the diamond and the out-field.

BERGER, BEATTY BACK

The Eagle management is all pepped up over the fact that Capt. Berger will be back in the [illegible] Sunday with his big bat. The [illegible] is regarded as the best [illegible] in the league by all the base ball magnates and no doubt he will greatly strengthen the offensive work of the Birds. Fans will remember the little short fellow who played with the team early in the season that hit the ball to all corners of the lot.

He was Emerson Beatty, and that Emerson Beatty will also be back in the lineup on the Eagle squad Sunday. He is regarded as one of the best young hitters ever to come from this section of the country and this lad has a splendid chance to go places and do things in the Base Ball World if he continues to show the stuff he is capable of displaying. The addition of these two men back on the squad will make the Birds a hard tribe for any team to stop.

PROMISES SHAKE-UP

The manager has promised a shake-up in the lineup for Sunday's game and fans will see several changes made in the personnel of the team. Berger will replace Miller behind the bat and Pettibone will be stationed at first base in Wolford's place. Munk Miller will perhaps be back at his old short stop position, while Ronenus will be benched from the out-field in favor of Ward or Davis. Young Beatty when he returns to the squad will likely be stationed in one of the outfield positions and it will not be surprising to see Pherson playing part of the game at first or second base. Downs the veteran Darbyville pitcher will be the starting pitcher in Sunday's game and he is expected to turn the visitors back in good shape.

HAS GOOD TEAM

The Pataskala team which opposes the Eagles Sundays is a strong dangerous aggregation and their team has been greatly strengthened since they made their last appearance in Circleville. They will doubtless put forth every effort to drop the Birds on the short end of the score while locals will be out there fighting to draw nearer to the top in the race. The game will be called at 2:30 prompt.

Real Brain Capacity Not Matter of Weight

Brain capacity does not increase with the ages, as far, at least, as historic periods go. Sir Arthur Keith, conservator of the museum of the Royal College of Surgeons, was examining a skeleton which had been found in digging the foundations of a house at Purley, Surrey, and he said:

"This man was a Roman, a real Roman. His skull is quite different from the Roman-British skulls of 1,800 years ago. It is a splendid head, and just beside it we found the skull of a child that must, in my opinion, have been the image of its father."

He measured it lovingly with a pair of calipers, and made a lightning mental calculation:

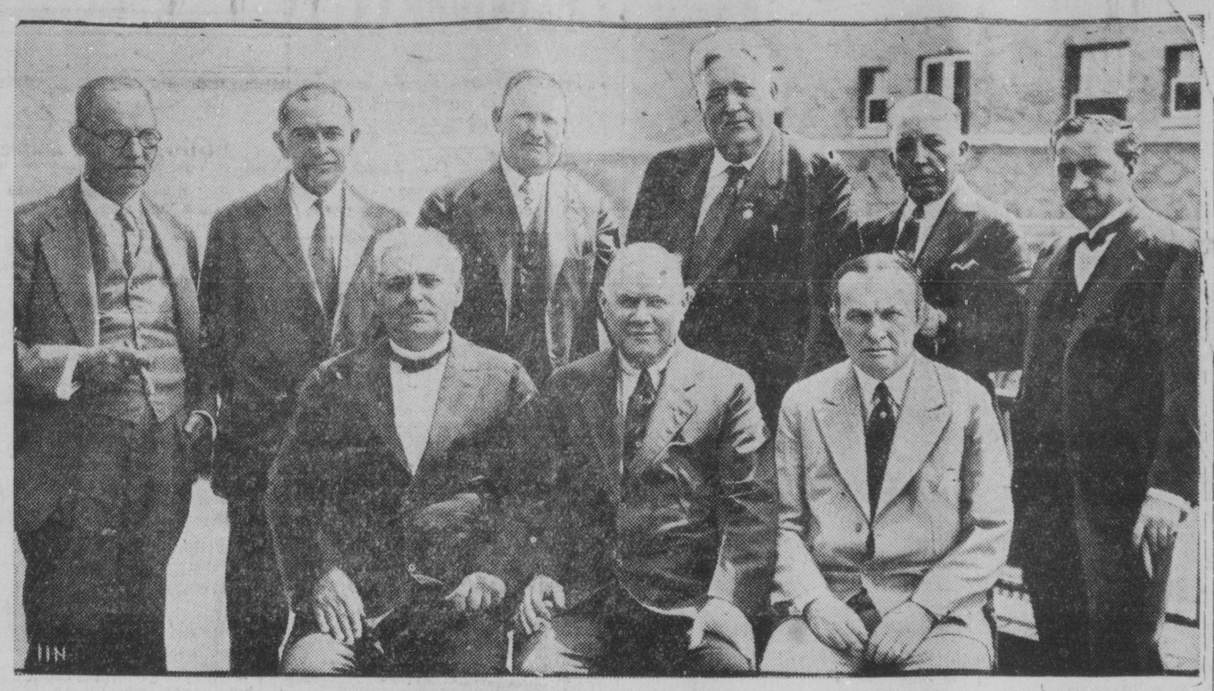
"He has more brain capacity than I have. But what I would really like to know is, what did he do with it?"

The skeleton is to be sent to the Croydon museum.—E. R. Campbell, in the Vancouver Province.

Her Wrong Name

One of the most curious historical mistakes is that of calling Joan of Arc by that name instead of Jeanne d'Arc. No village or place called "Arc" is connected with her.

Labor Exec's Decide Some Important Questions



Frankly chatting over the problems which confront them in the present labor situation, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor holds forth at Atlantic City, N. J. A Greeting From the Governor

GOVERNOR MYERS Y. COOPER
For ten years President of the Ohio Fair Managers Association.

LATE in August each year Ohio becomes "fair minded" in keeping with the State Fair. It is as if, after a year of industry, progress and thrift, the people of our great state pause to contemplate the wonders wrought by God and man. The occasion is fraught with pride of commonwealth, the quest for knowledge and the spirit of carnival.

Ohio is one of the greatest states of a great country. It ranks among the leaders in widely divergent branches of human activity. The State Fair is the tangible evidence of our proudest boasts for Our State. Here may be seen and studied the best accomplishments of agriculture, industry, commerce.

The State Fair is predominantly agricultural in import, as it is intended to be by the law giving it existence, and the expectations of those who journey to the mecca from town and farm, far and near. The largest crowd in all history is expected to attend the approaching Ohio State Fair, at Columbus, August 26-31. With the most stupendous educational program in its long history, the fair has become a dozen times bigger than the biggest circus and the outstanding fair event of the country. It will be largely attended because it is to be so well worth attending.

Modern science in farming is one of the things that the State Fair is designed to teach. The Ohio State Fair has long since become an enduring institution, something essential to the farming industry, therefore necessary to banking, commerce and manufacturing.

The Ohio State Fair offers opportunity not only for the farmer's improvement and enjoyment, but promotes the interest and individual development of the farmers' wives and children. It tends to arouse a demand from the country for general civic improvement, better sanitation for the home, and sound schools and pleasant environment for the community. The Ohio State Fair is an immense university, where everybody can attend. Every Ohio citizen should enroll as a member of the Ohio State Fair Booster Club and make this year's State Fair bigger and better than ever.

As an official and active member of state and county fair organizations, I have been intimately affiliated or associated with fairs everywhere over the state for many years and it is my earnest hope and expectation that the 1929 State Fair will eclipse in attendance the record of all previous events of the kind.

MYERS Y. COOPER,
Governor of Ohio.

Phrases Turned on Dogs

The dog watch aboard ship is the short watch of two hours. In civilian employments it usually means the "late trick" in the wee small hours. To "let loose the dogs of war" is a picturesque way of saying that the battle begins, or any other sort of conflict. It is an idiomatic expression, coming to us from soldier speech, and may refer to the time when certain nations actually used dogs with spiked collars in battle.

Province a Wasteland

The Russian province of Archangel lies well within the Arctic circle and the furthermost point south is 62 degrees latitude. The total area is six times that of an average American state and it is a cheerless and desolate region. Immense forests of pine and spruce extend for hundreds of miles and there are interminable bogs and swamps when the intense cold has not frozen over the rivers and the lakes.

DUTCH DOWN IRISH SQUAD

Dumm's Team Beats Lynch's Outfit By Score of 8 To 3 Friday.

As the Hudson-Essex team from Chillicothe didn't show up at the Utilities field Friday evening, Frank Lynch and Roy Dumm organized teams calling themselves Lynch's Irish and Dumm's Dutch. The final score was 8 to 3 in favor of the Dutch.

According to spectators this was the best played game this season, as there was no arguments with the umpires or fighting about the game. Lynch pitched for his Irish and Dumm for the Dutch. Everything went quiet until the fifth inning when the Dutch, through some error of the Irish, drove in a run. Nevertheless the Irish played very hard but they still didn't score. More errors followed on the part of the Irish and the Dutch followed in with two more runs.

Now the Irish were determined to score. Well they finally did bring in a run in the last of the ninth. They hit, hit and hit, which eventually meant two runs. As the case rested now the score was a tie, 3 to 3. But the Irish were sorely disappointed in the tenth inning, when to their great surprise, the Dutch scored three runs and then Barr drove in a home run. The Irish pitcher went up in the air and the game ended with the Dutch winning.

NOT HOW MUCH but HOW MUCH SATISFACTION

Two thoroughly practical considerations will surely draw you toward Oldsmobile—price and value. For high quality at low price is the fundamental reason for Oldsmobile's constantly growing success. But even price and value are overshadowed by the complete and lasting satisfaction that comes with Oldsmobile ownership.

Consider the price—only $875 for the two-door sedan. Compare what Oldsmobile offers you with what other cars offer. You will discover that it is doubtful economy to pay less than Oldsmobile's price . . . and unnecessary to pay more. For a car of lesser price will never bring you all that Oldsmobile offers . . . and you'll have to pay more than Oldsmobile's price to obtain the same fine qualities in another car.

Oldsmobile's big 62-horsepower high-compression engine provides ample power for every emergency—acceleration to take you out front when the signal light changes—speed to keep you there.

Exceptional provisions for durability and dependability are evident in every detail of chassis construction. A low center of gravity combined with balanced weight gives uncanny roadability. Four Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers assure restful riding ease.

Examine the features of Oldsmobile's Fisher bodies. Test the wide, deep-cushioned seats. Note the glove-like fit of the soft upholstery fabrics—the luxurious quality of the materials used. Try the new comfort of the Fisher adjustable front seat.

Come and inspect this car. Drive it yourself. Compare its features with other cars. And when you have compared its price, and considered its value—keeping in mind that Oldsmobile stands high by a dollar-for-dollar measure . . . remember it stands even higher in the test of owner satisfaction.

The VIKING
—the new 90-degree V-type Eight at medium price—is built in the Oldsfactories, by Oldsmobile craftsmen, and sold through Oldsmobile dealers. At $1595 for all models, f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Michigan, it is as outstanding in value in its field as the popular Oldsmobile Six, the fine car of low price.

TWO DOOR SEDAN
$875
f. o. b. factory, Lansing, Michigan. Spare tire and bumpers extra.

Consider the Delivered Price
Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. Oldsmobile delivered prices include only reasonable charges for delivery and financing.

CHANGE PEPS YOU UP MENTALLY, BODILY

New Scenes and New Faces Bound to Take You Out of a Mental Rut and Improve Your General Health, Says Authority.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A CHANGE from the ordinary routine of our lives brings with it many good results. A temporary change from city to country, or from country to city, as the case may be, will effect the mental attitude for the rest of the reason. You may travel only a mile from home, but you will have different scenery, new faces and places to think about. A day or a month or a year away from the familiar surroundings is sure to take one out of a rut.

DR. COPELAND

Mental discord wastes a tremendous amount of vitality. A discordant mind usually arises from some mental condition. It may be worry, fear, anger or continued ill health. Such conditions all have the results upon the body. They disturb the organic functions, especially those of elimination.

Experiments have shown that mental discord will so affect the digestion that the assimilation of food is practically stopped. The food eaten at such time ferments. The poisons and waste materials resulting from this fermentation which should be eliminated are kept within the body.

Good health is often largely determined by good digestion, and a proper, happy state of mind. The benefits of an otherwise happy vacation may be spoiled by over-eating or the eating of improper food. Do not eat too heartily. Make it a time of real physical recreation, a time to increase your bodily vitality and your mental poise.

Many undermine their health by thinking about it. Having set out to enjoy a vacation, be happy, enter into all the fun possible, learn how to play and forget your troubles. While in nature's playground, where every green thing abounds, look about you and enjoy the many diversions at hand. A study of nature is a very interesting pastime.

Did you ever study the subject of "Trees"? Or the flora and fauns of the section where you are spending your vacation. And such things as the geological formation around you?

Think health instead of disease. This will have a marked effect and in time you will unconsciously restored to good health. Cultivate the right mental habits. Learn how to live. If you follow the commands of nature you will have abundant health.

NEWSPAPERS PLAN DISPLAY

Herald Readers Are Asked To Vote at Exhibit At Ohio State Fair.

The Herald requests that every visitor to the Ohio State Fair from Pickaway-co to be sure to visit the Newspaper Exhibit and register as a reader of this paper.

Four Ohio newspapers will be awarded silver placques in the Newspaper Registration Contest at the Ohio State Fair, which will be held Aug. 26 to 31, according to an announcement made today by Oliver Hartley, director of publicity for the state Department of Agriculture.

This registration contest will be conducted in the Newspaper Exhibit, which will be located in the Ohio Building, the replica of the home of President William Henry Harrison, in the very center of the fair grounds. Both the Newspaper Exhibit and the Newspaper Registration Contest will again be in charge of The Ohio Newspaper Association.

The silver placques will be awarded the newspaper in each of the four districts that has the largest percentage of subscribers or readers that have designated it as their favorite paper in registering at the Newspaper Exhibit.

In order to make the contest equitable, the state has been divided into districts so that the newspapers located in towns nearer Columbus will have no advantage over those located farther away. The percentage -of-circution will be used as a basis for making the awards, so that the large paper will have no advantage over the smaller ones.

The Columbus papers and the winners in the Newspaper Registration Contest at the 1928 Ohio State Fair will not be eligible to participate in the contest. The winners last year were: The Madison Press, London; The Morrow County Independent, Cardington; The Daily Messenger, Athens; and The Beacon-Journal, Akron.

FRED WARING IN FILM HERE

Pennsylvanians To Be Seen and Heard In "Syncopation" At Grand.

Fred Waring and his famous Pennsylvanians known throughout the world by their talking machine records and tours as well as throughout the greater part of the United States, by reason of their long engagements in the larger picture houses, are to be seen and heard in "Syncopation," the RKO All-Talker, coming to the Grand Theatre for a three day run commencing Sunday matinee.

Fred Waring enjoys a unique distinction in the world of music. Beginning the organization of his present band when he was a student at Penn State College, he gathered his fellow students together and formed the now internationally known orchestra. In several American cities they have played for as long as forty weeks, while but recently they concluded a long and successful engagement at Des Ambassadeurs, famous theatre-restaurant.

In addition to the nine numbers which these inimitable jazz artists are to play in the first of Radio pictures, including the popular new song hits from this show, such as "I'll Always Be In Love With You," "Jericho," Do Something," a number of singing and dancing artists will appear.

AUTOMOBILE SPEED LIMITS GROW.

The list of states and cities permitting higher speeds for automobiles, more in keeping with the speed capacities of the modern car, is growing, and some enthusiastic automobilists are predicting that it will not be long until about the only speed regulation will be one against low speeds, especially in traffic.

We have seen cases of slow-poking in traffic, and even on country highways, which made us almost wish there was a minimum speed regulation. Down in Miami and Tampa they make the automobilist keep moving at a decent rate of speed, so that the slow-poke will not hold up traffic. In Chicago the slow driver finds that he is out of place.

Recognizing the changed situation with regard to speed in the construction of automobiles and the ease with which modern cars can be stopped at high speed, the States of Ohio, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Mexico and Oklahoma recently have raised the maximum speed limits permitted by law. Tennessee, Indiana, Connecticut, Michigan and Montana practically have abolished maximum speed limits.

From a prejudice against the fast driver on the public highways and streets there has been gradually growing resentment against the slow driver, the fellow who holds up traffic and compels all cars, whether fast or otherwise, to slow down to his own speed. To such an extent has this resentment grown that in some states there has been presented in the legislatures bills forbidding automobiles to operate at a speed lower than the limit set in these bills, which generally was 20 miles an hour, on public highways.

Many automobile drivers have a tendency to abuse the privilege of fast driving, however, especially on narrow roads. One of these instances recently came to light through a complaint to the Cincinnati Automobile Club that there was a "speed trap" on the Dixie Highway, U. S. 25, between Cincinnati and Lexington, in Scott county. When asked about it the county judge of Scott county said very frankly that all persons who violated the law by driving recklessly over this concrete road would most certainly be prosecuted. On this road a number of accidents have happened, due to the practice of drivers to exceed the speed limit, especially on a concrete road. For drivers of this type there will be but little public sympathy, for the roads ought to be safe for all persons who care to use them and so safe that they need not feel they are taking their lives in their hands every time they get out on the highways.

CUTTING GOVERNMENT EXPENSE.

They have a new director of the budget at Washington and it is reported that under his administration it is hoped to cut down materially the expense of the government. A penny saved is a penny earned, we were always told, and if the government can save some of the money we are paying it in taxes, we shall earn it, for our taxes will be reduced.

In his first message following the World War, President Woodrow Wilson urged upon Congress the adoption of the budget system, but it was not until Warren G. Harding became president that such a measure was enacted as that which Wilson had proposed. Under this plan, proposed by a Democratic president and approved by his Republican successor, savings have been made in many departments of the government and the figures of the reports show that it cost $2,000,000,000 less to run the government in 1927 than in 1921, the saving being made up, in part, at least, of small amounts in various fields of government work.

As examples of these savings, the government telephone bill has been cut $75,000 a year by the elimination of any other that absolutely necessary calls. A million dollars saved in transportation of government officials, of various grades and services. The Q. M. C. of the army saved $375,000 in a year in operating the army air service. The cost of handling gasoline, oils and fuel was cut nearly a million and a quarter dollars between 1925 and 1927.

The government has been operating departments which overlap and which duplicate work. This had been improved a lot and can be stopped altogether, as it ought to be in interest of economy. Without regard to politics the people will approve anything that is done to reduce the cost of government without impairing its efficiency and no government should take from its people a dollar more than is necessary for the efficient administration of its affairs. If the new director of the budget, who received at least part of his training under General Charles G. Dawes, in France, can bring this about he will have rendered a real service to his people.

DOWLING AND DARRO IN HIT

Juvenile Actor Stars With Broadway Favorite In "Rainbow Man."

One of the prize juvenile roles of all time in pictures is that of Billy, orphaned son of a vaudeville acrobat, played by little Frankie Darro, the child-marvel, in Eddie Dowling's premier musical romance smash-hit, "The Rainbow Man."

In this human interest story, in which tears are freely mingled with the rainbows of success, Frankie is adopted by Eddie Dowling after the lad's father dies in an accident in the theater.

Young Frankie has some of the prize bits of action and snappy dialog of the picture. An example is when he and, Rainbow Ryan, played by Dowling, are out of work in New York and he is seen in the rooming house saying his prayers with Beans, the dog, at the bedside. In another sequence, the one in which Rainbow leaves him and the girl, Marion Nixon, the boy's intelligent handling of the highly dramatic episode is nothing short of amazing. It is perhaps the greatest juvenile acting bit of all time.

"The Rainbow Man" is coming to the Cliftona Theater for a three days' run beginning Sunday.

Earlier talking pictures had an element of inconsistency in them as regards the interpolation of music and songs, but "The Rainbow Man" is a fine example of how this has been overcome in talking pictures and how songs have been made a natural part of the plot and action.

How this is done is shown by mentioning the spots in the plot in which vocal and instrumental music have fitting places.

In the minstrel show, Eddie Dowling, as "Rainbow Ryan," sings "Sleepy Valley" and "Rainbow Man."

INDIANS WITH McCOY

Indian braves, who doff their war paint to plow their fields with modern tractors, alternated between farming under government farm advisers and acting before the camera, when "The Overland Telegraph," Tim McCoy's new Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer picture which will open at the Met Theater Sunday, was being filmed.

A tribe of 450 Blackfeet Indians appears with McCoy in this dramatic romance of the building of the first transcontinental telegraph line. Dorothy Janis, one of the screen's newest leading ladies, is the heroine, and Frank Rice, Lawford Davidson, Chief Big Tree and others of note are in the cast. The Indians, naturally, are cast as the menace of the production, a savage, warlike tribe, who make life both difficult and dangerous for the men building the telegraph line.

Mangian Love Letters Inscribed on Bamboo

Perhaps the queerest type of love letter known in the world is that in vogue among the Mangians of the hill lands and mountains of Mindoro, P. I., who still hold to the ancient alphabet of about three vowels and ten consonants which they group into words inscribed on bamboo in a single vertical column, a curved bolo serving as a stylus. They are an extremely simple and timid people and their more aggressive Malayan neighbors have made them hunt cover in the highlands and the primeval forests. For business, aside from the very important business of making love, they hardly need writing at all; and surely no bamboo ledgers to record their wealth. But love makes as ardent demands upon them as upon other folk, and their swains fallen victim to Cupid whip out their bolos, slash down a good-sized bamboo, and go to verse writing with intense gusto. So that a love missive may be strung along the length of a 45-foot pole, and the one end trailing in the forest path as the poet indites a warm postscript on the other. Popular damsels soon have enough finely etched poles to build a hut—to burn such telltale documents would be to light a fire endangering the forest. Specimens of the love letter poles have been acquired by scientists and translated, and the astounding truth discovered that a Mangian in love is an inordinate liar!

SUMMER VACATIONISTS

The Skyscraper Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is molested. Then Edison visits the apartment. As he goes out a shot is heard. The Russian butler is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" not as her uncle's, the Major's handwriting. A diary belonging to the dead butler is found. It relates a story of the famous Shah diamond which came into his hands in Russia while Sewell was there. Sewell gets possession of the diamond and takes it and the Countess Kurasova to America. The butler follows and enters Sewell's employ. He unearths evidence of Sewell's relations with the Countess. Also the actions of the many visitors Sewell entertained.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"THERE are various ways of disposing of diamonds. One is to break them up. But Sewell wouldn't want to do it, for the simple reason that the stone was worth fully fifty times its actual value because of its associations. And yet he couldn't sell the stone as such because the heirs and assigns of the Romanoffs—and there are a few left—would instantly attach the stone as their property. This is a point the butler doesn't make clear.

"Now here we have Sewell with millions concentrated in one white diamond. Sewell was a greedy man, a hard man, a mean man. Whatever other activities he indulged in, the stone would take first place, for with the stone sold, he was in a position to solve such problems as he had. Like most adventurers of his type, his goal was incalculable wealth and luxury. Satisfactory sale of this stone would mean the realization of all his dreams.

"Now whatever else we may assume from this document, we can be reasonably sure that it was not women, it was not gambling that dominated Sewell's life. It was the diamond. Then we jump to the murder. Did the diamond lead to the murder?

"A man may be enormously interested in one thing and yet be murdered for a reason not even remotely associated with his mania passion. If you'll permit a digression, it is conceivable that a gentleman who has devoted his life to the study of Chinese poisons may be shot by an East Side gunman because he refused to hand over his wallet. Upon cursory inquiry, knowing nothing of the wallet and led astray by the subject of Chinese poisons, we would assume that the murder was in some way connected with the dominant theme in the victim's life.

"Now let us consider this case. We began by believing that Sewell's sole interest was women. So we assumed that the murder was influenced by some action of his with a woman. We learned he was a gambler. So we thought perhaps some quarrel with a fellow-gambler might have resulted in his violent end. And now we learn of the diamond. Here, again, we have a plausible, if somewhat romantic mainspring for a murder.

"I gave you the illustration of the student of Chinese poisons. It is quite likely that despite the fact that the business of the diamond occupied most of Sewell's thoughts he was murdered for reasons utterly disassociated from the jewel. It may have been because of a woman, because of gambling. Or, worse for us, it may have been because of some incident in his past life of which we know nothing and may have nothing at all to do with either of our three dominant causes. As an amateur student of murders, I have never found the mathematical elements in murder which so many assume exists. Of course, the police assume that it does exist. Hence circumstantial evidence, which, as you know, has led many astray."

"Are you finished?" demanded Marx?

"No," said the doctor. "My point is that I have a hunch."

"Now you're talking!"

"I have a hunch that there is one element in this case of which we know nothing, and which, when we learn it, will completely drown out all we know now."

"In other words?"

"There are no other words. I have this hunch, this premonition. I feel that somehow we have as yet nothing tangible."

"All the same," said Marx, "I'm going to follow up this jeweler's appraisal stuff which the butler mentions. I want to find out what efforts were made to sell the diamond."

"By all means," agreed the doctor. "Not that I think we'll be any nearer a solution. We may. As I have indicated, it seems to me that murder is an elusive thing, and murderers are caught on the wing. Perhaps through this inquiry you will come upon something that is really a step nearer solution."

"But wait a minute," said Marx. "I'll take care of the diamond end all right. What gets me in that confession article of the butler's is this second guy. Where did he live?"

"Behind the mirror, in the alcove?" suggested the doctor.

"There was no bed, no nothing." Marx shook his head.

"Perhaps," said the doctor, "he lived in the house adjoining, and only came for his meals. It sounds so absurd, though. No, I don't think so. Because there seems no earthly reason for his doing it. Somewhere in the house, Inspector, is a room which was or is occupied by this second man. Now, why did Sewell keep him? Offhand several explanations come to me. He may have been a relative or a close friend, in hiding. A fugitive from justice, perhaps. But Sewell was not the kind to put himself out for relatives or friends. Perhaps—and this seems likeliest—Sewell found him of some use. Something in connection with the diamond. Let's leave that. Whatever the man's purpose, there he was. He might have been the one who murdered Sewell. Let's go over the list. Young Edison, who has suffered ignominy and jail at your hands, is obviously innocent. Mrs. Sewell, the injured wife, is not a likely suspect. The Major—perhaps. The various women—hardly. The second man—because we know nothing of him—seems most probable. Therefore, your search resolves itself to the second man, and you may find the second man through the diamond."

Marx summoned several of his detectives and ordered them to trace the sale of the stone.

Then he pondered over the doctor's lengthy discourse, and finally he said to himself:

"Sounds like a lot of boloney to me, but I like to hear him talk."

Marx attended to several other cases troubling his department. Then he resolved to pay another visit to the skyscraper apartment. Arriving there he found a lon detective on duty.

"See anything?" demanded Marx.

"No," said the detective. "Not exactly, boss, but—"

"But what—?"

"But seems to me somebody's been moving around here—" the detective looked stolidly embarrassed. "You know what I mean. I don't see nothing, see? But I get a feeling."

Marx remembered the doctor's vague premonitions, and growled:

"I don't give a damn about your feelings. Did you hear somebody moving around?"

"Well, I thought I did."

"And—?"

"I looked all around, but couldn't find a thing. Not a thing."

"All right," said Marx. "I'm going to spend a little time here. You can beat it back to Headquarters. I'll find out all about them things."

Germs

Two-year-old Mary had learned to sing "Ten Little Germs." One morning soon after breakfast, seeing a glass of milk which one of her brothers had left on the table she picked it up and drank part of it. However, she stopped suddenly and said, "Mother, it has a germ in it!" She had found a crumb of bread.

AUTOMOBILE SPEED LIMITS GROW.

The list of states and cities permitting higher speeds for automobiles, more in keeping with the speed capacities of the modern car, is growing, and some enthusiastic automobilists are predicting that it will not be long until about the only speed regulation will be one against low speeds, especially in traffic.

We have seen cases of slow-poking in traffic, and even on country highways, which made us almost wish there was a minimum speed regulation. Down in Miami and Tampa they make the automobilist keep moving at a decent rate of speed, so that the slow-poke will not hold up traffic. In Chicago the slow driver finds that he is out of place.

Recognizing the changed situation with regard to speed in the construction of automobiles and the ease with which modern cars can be stopped at high speed, the States of Ohio, Minnesota, Mississippi, New Mexico and Oklahoma recently have raised the maximum speed limits permitted by law. Tennessee, Indiana, Connecticut, Michigan and Montana practically have abolished maximum speed limits.

From a prejudice against the fast driver on the public highways and streets there has been gradually growing resentment against the slow driver, the fellow who holds up traffic and compels all cars, whether fast or otherwise, to slow down to his own speed. To such an extent has this resentment grown that in some states there has been presented in the legislatures bills forbidding automobiles to operate at a speed lower than the limit set in these bills, which generally was 20 miles an hour, on public highways.

Many automobile drivers have a tendency to abuse the privilege of fast driving, however, especially on narrow roads. One of these instances recently came to light through a complaint to the Cincinnati Automobile Club that there was a "speed trap" on the Dixie Highway, U. S. 25, between Cincinnati and Lexington, in Scott county. When asked about it the county judge of Scott county said very frankly that all persons who violated the law by driving recklessly over this concrete road would most certainly be prosecuted. On this road a number of accidents have happened, due to the practice of drivers to exceed the speed limit, especially on a concrete road. For drivers of this type there will be but little public sympathy, for the roads ought to be safe for all persons who care to use them and so safe that they need not feel they are taking their lives in their hands every time they get out on the highways.

CUTTING GOVERNMENT EXPENSE.

They have a new director of the budget at Washington and it is reported that under his administration it is hoped to cut down materially the expense of the government. A penny saved is a penny earned, we were always told, and if the government can save some of the money we are paying it in taxes, we shall earn it, for our taxes will be reduced.

In his first message following the World War, President Woodrow Wilson urged upon Congress the adoption of the budget system, but it was not until Warren G. Harding became president that such a measure was enacted as that which Wilson had proposed. Under this plan, proposed by a Democratic president and approved by his Republican successor, savings have been made in many departments of the government and the figures of the reports show that it cost $2,000,000,000 less to run the government in 1927 than in 1921, the saving being made up in part, at least, of small amounts in various fields of government work.

As examples of these savings, the government telephone bill has been cut $75,000 a year by the elimination of any other that absolutely necessary calls. A million dollars saved in transportation of government officials, of various grades and services. The Q. M. C. of the army saved $375,000 in a year in operating the army air service. The cost of handling gasoline, oils and fuel was cut nearly a million and a quarter dollars between 1926 and 1927.

The government has been operating departments which overlap and which duplicate work. This had been improved a lot and can be stopped altogether, as it ought to be in interest of economy. Without regard to politics the people will approve anything that is done to reduce the cost of government without impairing its efficiency and no government should take from its people a dollar more than is necessary for the efficient administration of its affairs. If the new director of the budget, who received at least part of his training under General Charles G. Dawes, in France, can bring this about he will have rendered a real service to his people.

DOWLING AND DARRO IN HIT

Juvenile Actor Stars With Broadway Favorite In "Rainbow Man."

One of the prize juvenile roles of all time in pictures is that of Billy, orphaned son of a vaudeville acrobat, played by little Frankie Darro, the child-marvel, in Eddie Dowling's premier musical romance smash-hit, "The Rainbow Man."

In this human interest story, in which tears are freely mingled with the rainbows of success, Frankie is adopted by Eddie Dowling after the lad's father dies in an accident in the theater.

Young Frankie has some of the prize bits of action and snappy dialog of the picture. An example is when he and, Rainbow Ryan, played by Dowling, are out of work in New York and he is seen in the rooming house saying his prayers with Beans, the dog, at the bedside. In another sequence, the one in which Rainbow leaves him and the girl, Marion Nixon, the boy's intelligent handling of the highly dramatic episode is nothing short of amazing. It is perhaps the greatest juvenile acting bit of all time.

"The Rainbow Man" is coming to the Cliftona Theater for a three days' run beginning Sunday.

Earlier talking pictures had an element of inconsistency in them as regards the interpolation of music and songs, but "The Rainbow Man" is a fine example of how this has been overcome in talking pictures and how songs have been made a natural part of the plot and action.

How this is done is shown by mentioning the spots in the plot in which vocal and instrumental music have fitting places.

In the minstrel show, Eddie Dowling, as "Rainbow Ryan," sings "Sleepy Valley" and "Rainbow Man."

INDIANS WITH McCOY

Indian braves, who doff their war paint to plow their fields with modern tractors, alternated between farming under government farm advisers and acting before the camera, when "The Overland Telegraph," Tim McCoy's new Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer picture which will open at the Met Theater Sunday, was being filmed.

A tribe of 450 Blackfeet Indians appears with McCoy in this dramatic romance of the building of the first transcontinental telegraph line. Dorothy Janis, one of the screen's newest leading ladies, is the heroine, and Frank Rice, Lawford Davidson, Chief Big Tree and others of note are in the cast. The Indians, naturally, are cast as the menace of the production, a savage, warlike tribe, who make life both difficult and dangerous for the men building the telegraph line.

Mangian Love Letters Inscribed on Bamboo

Perhaps the queerest type of love letter known in the world is that in vogue among the Mangians of the hill lands and mountains of Mindoro, P. I., who still hold to the ancient alphabet of about three vowels and ten consonants which they group into words inscribed on bamboo in a single vertical column, a carved bolo serving as a stylus. They are an extremely simple and timid people and their more aggressive Malayan neighbors have made them hunt cover in the highlands and the primeval forests. For business, aside from the very important business of making love, they hardly need writing at all; and surely no bamboo ledgers to record their wealth. But love makes as ardent demands upon them as upon other folk, and their swains fallen victim to Cupid whip out their bolos, s ash down a good-sized bamboo, and go to verse writing with intense gusto. So that a love missive may be strung along the length of a 4' foot pole, and the one end trailing in the forest path as the poet indites a warm postscript on the other. Popular damsels soon have enough fine y etched poles to build a hut—to burn such telltale documents would be to light a fire endangering the forest. Specimens of the love letter poles have been acquired by scientists and translated, and the astounding truth discovered that a Mangian in love is an inordinate liar!

SUMMER VACATIONISTS

The Skyscraper Murder

by SAMUEL SPEWACK

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

PHILLIP EDISON is host at a night-club party to his just recently-divorced wife and Oliver Sewell, sportsman and Don Juan. Edison presumes that Sewell and the divorcee are to be married. When the party breaks up, Edison goes to Sewell's home and, while he is waiting his return, is informed Sewell has been found dead. Inspector Marx begins a police investigation. He questions Sewell's Russian valet. The elevator operator is also questioned. He did not see Sewell return. A young medical examiner, with a taste for detective work assists Marx. Their search of the apartment reveals complete wardrobes for women in different colors. In a safe-deposit box they find a scrap of paper bearing the inscription, "Paid in Full." The following day a Major Preston, who has been a sporting associate of Sewell's, is interrogated. Then Sewell's widow visits the apartment. She intimates that Preston might know something. As the investigators are standing, after Mrs. Sewell's departure, looking at a mirror door, it opens, and Mrs. Edison appears. She relates a story which the police do not believe. After she leaves, her lawyer threatens Marx with political reprisals if the woman is molested. Then Edison visits the apartment. As he goes out a shot is heard. The Russian butler is found dead and Edison is arrested. Mary Pennell, whose clothes are found in the apartment, is questioned. She identifies the "Paid in Full" not as her uncle's, the Major's handwriting. A diary belonging to the dead butler is found. It relates a story of the famous Shah diamond which came into his hands in Russia while Sewell was there. Sewell gets possession of the diamond and takes it and the Countess Kurasova to America. The butler follows and enters Sewell's employ. He unearths evidence of Sewell's relations with the Countess. Also the actions of the many visitors Sewell entertained.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XVIII.

"THERE are various ways of disposing of diamonds. One is to break them up. But Sewell wouldn't want to do it, for the simple reason that the stone was worth fully fifty times its actual value because of its associations. And yet he couldn't sell the stone as such because the heirs and assigns of the Romanoffs—and there are a few left—would instantly attach the stone as their property. This is a point the butler doesn't make clear.

"Now here we have Sewell with millions concentrated in one white diamond. Sewell was a greedy man, a hard man, a mean man. Whatever other activities he indulged in, the stone would take first place, for with the stone sold, he was in a position to solve such problems as he had. Like most adventurers of his type, his goal was incalculable wealth and luxury. Satisfactory sale of this stone would mean the realization of all his dreams.

"Now whatever else we may assume from this document, we can be reasonably sure that it was not women, it was not gambling that dominated Sewell's life. It was the diamond. Then we jump to the murder. Did the diamond lead to the murder?

"A man may be enormously interested in one thing and yet be murdered for a reason not even remotely associated with his mania passion. If you'll permit a digression, it is conceivable that a gentleman who has devoted his life to the study of Chinese poisons may be shot by an East Side gunman because he refused to hand over his wallet. Upon cursory inquiry, knowing nothing of the wallet and led astray by the subject of Chinese poisons, we would assume that the murder was in some way connected with the dominant theme in the victim's life.

"Now let us consider this case. We began by believing that Sewell's sole interest was women. So we assumed that the murder was influenced by some action of his with a woman. We learned he was a gambler. So we thought perhaps some quarrel with a fellow-gambler might have resulted in his violent end. And now we learn of the diamond. Here, again, we have a plausible, if somewhat romantic mainspring for a murder.

"I gave you the illustration of the student of Chinese poisons. It is quite likely that despite the fact that the business of the diamond occupied most of Sewell's thoughts he was murdered for reasons utterly disassociated from the jewel. It may have been because of a woman, because of gambling. Or, worse for us, it may have been because of some incident in his past life of which we know nothing and may have nothing at all to do with either of our three dominant causes. As an amateur student of murders, I have never found the mathematical elements in murder which so many assume exists. Of course, the police assume that it does exist. Hence circumstantial evidence, which, as you know, has led many astray."

"Are you finished?" demanded Marx?

"No," said the doctor. "My point is that I have a hunch."

"Now you're talking!"

"I have a hunch that there is one element in this case of which we know nothing, and which, when we learn it, will completely drown out all we know now."

"In other words?"

"There are no other words. I have this hunch, this premonition. I feel that somehow we have as yet nothing tangible."

"All the same," said Marx, "I'm going to follow up this jeweler's appraisal stuff which the butler mentions. I want to find out what efforts were made to sell the diamond."

"By all means," agreed the doctor. "Not that I think we'll be any nearer a solution. We may. As I have indicated, it seems to me that murder is an elusive thing, and murderers are caught on the wing. Perhaps through this inquiry you will come upon something that is really a step nearer solution."

"But wait a minute," said Marx. "I'll take care of the diamond end all right. What gets me in that confession article of the butler's is this second guy. Where did he live?"

"Behind the mirror, in the alcove?" suggested the doctor.

"There was no bed, no nothing." Marx shook his head.

"Perhaps," said the doctor, "he lived in the house adjoining, and only came for his meals. It sounds so absurd, though. No, I don't think so. Because there seems no earthly reason for his doing it. Somewhere in the house, Inspector, is a room which was or is occupied by this second man. Now, why did Sewell keep him? Offhand several explanations come to me. He may have been a relative or a close friend, in hiding. A fugitive from justice, perhaps. But Sewell was not the kind to put himself out for relatives or friends. Perhaps—and this seems likeliest—Sewell found him of some use. Something in connection with the diamond. Let's leave that. Whatever the man's purpose, there he was. He might have been the one who murdered Sewell. Let's go over the list. Young Edison, who has suffered ignominy and jail at your hands, is obviously innocent. Mrs. Sewell, the injured wife, is not a likely suspect. The Major—perhaps. The various women—hardly. The second man—because we know nothing of him—seems most probable. Therefore, your search resolves itself to the second man, and you may find the second man through the diamond."

Marx summoned several of his detectives and ordered them to trace the sale of the stone.

Then he pondered over the doctor's lengthy discourse, and finally he said to himself:

"Sounds like a lot of boloney to me, but I like to hear him talk."

Marx attended to several other cases troubling his department. Then he resolved to pay another visit to the skyscraper apartment. Arriving there he found a lon detective on duty.

"See anything?" demanded Marx.

"No," said the detective. "Not exactly, boss, but—"

"But what—?"

"But seems to me somebody's been moving around here—" the detective looked stolidly embarrassed. "You know what I mean. I don't see nothing, see? But I get a feeling."

Marx remembered the doctor's vague premonitions, and growled:

"I don't give a damn about your feelings. Did you hear somebody moving around?"

"Well, I thought I did."

"And—?"

"I looked all around, bu. couldn't find a thing. Not a thing."

"All right," said Marx. "I'm going to spend a little time here. You can beat it back to Headquarters. I'll find out all about them things."

However, she stopped suddenly and said, "Mother, it has a germ in it!" She had found a crumb of bread.

CHANGE PEPS YOU UP MENTALLY, BODILY

New Scenes and New Faces Bound to Take You Out of a Mental Rut and Improve Your General Health, Says Authority.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

A CHANGE from the ordinary routine of our lives brings with it many good results. A temporary change from city to country, or from country to city, as the case may be, will effect the mental attitude for the rest of the reason. You may travel only a mile from home, but you will have different scenery, new faces and places to think about. A day or a month or a year away from the familiar surroundings is sure to take one out of a rut.

DR. COPELAND

Mental discord wastes a tremendous amount of vitality. A discordant mind usually arises from some mental condition. It may be worry, fear, anger or continued ill health. Such conditions all have the results upon the body. They disturb the organic functions, especially those of elimination.

Experiments have shown that mental discord will so affect the digestion that the assimilation of food is practically stopped. The food eaten at such time ferments. The poisons and waste materials resulting from this fermentation which should be eliminated are kept within the body.

Good health is often largely determined by good digestion, and a proper, happy state of mind. The benefits of an otherwise happy vacation may be spoiled by over-eating or the eating of improper food. Do not eat too heartily. Make it a time of real physical recreation, a time to increase your bodily vitality and your mental poise.

Many undermine their health by thinking about it. Having set out to enjoy a vacation, be happy, enter into all the fun possible, learn how to play and forget your troubles. While in nature's playground, where every green thing abounds, look about you and enjoy the many diversions at hand. A study of nature is a very interesting pastime.

Did you ever study the subject of "Trees"? Or the flora and fauns of the section where you are spending your vacation. And such things as the geological formation around you?

Think health instead of disease. This will have a marked effect and in time you will unconsciously restored to good health. Cultivate the right mental habits. Learn how to live. If you follow the commands of nature you will have abundant health.

NEWSPAPERS PLAN DISPLAY

Herald Readers Are Asked To Vote at Exhibit At Ohio State Fair.

The Herald requests that every visitor to the Ohio State Fair from Pickaway-co to be sure to visit the Newspaper Exhibit and register as a reader of this paper.

Four Ohio newspapers will be awarded silver placques in the Newspaper Registration Contest at the Ohio State Fair, which will be held Aug. 26 to 31, according to an announcement made today by Oliver Hartley, director of publicity for the state Department of Agriculture.

This registration contest will be conducted in the Newspaper Exhibit, which will be located in the Ohio Building, the replica of the home of President William Henry Harrison, in the very center of the fair grounds. Both the Newspaper Exhibit and the Newspaper Registration Contest will again be in charge of The Ohio Newspaper Association.

The silver placques will be awarded the newspaper in each of the four districts that has the largest percentage of subscribers or readers that have designated it as their favorite paper in registering at the Newspaper Exhibit.

In order to make the contest equitable, the state has been divided into districts so that the newspapers located in towns nearer Columbus will have no advantage over those located farther away. The percentage -of-circulation will be used as a basis for making the awards, so that the large paper will have no advantage over the smaller ones.

The Columbus papers and the winners in the Newspaper Registration Contest at the 1928 Ohio State Fair will not be eligible to participate in the contest. The winners last year were: The Madison Press, London; The Morrow County Independent, Cardington; The Daily Messenger, Athens; and The Beacon-Journal, Akron.

FRED WARING IN FILM HERE

Pennsylvanians To Be Seen and Heard In "Syncopation" At Grand.

Fred Waring and his famous Pennsylvanians known throughout the world by their talking machine records and tours as well as throughout the greater part of the United States, by reason of their long engagements in the larger picture houses, are to be seen and heard in "Syncopation," the RKO All-Talker, coming to the Grand Theatre for a three day run commencing Sunday matinee.

Fred Waring enjoys a unique distinction in the world of music. Beginning the organization of his present band when he was a student at Penn State College, he gathered his fellow students together and formed the now internationally known orchestra. In several American cities they have played for as long as forty weeks, while but recently they concluded a long and successful engagement at Des Ambassadeurs, famous theatre-restaurant.

In addition to the nine numbers which these inimitable jazz artists are to play in the first of Radio pictures, including the popular new song hits from this show, such as "I'll Always Be In Love With You," "Jericho," Do Something," a number of singing and dancing artists will appear.

In the cast unfolding the love story which details the ambitions and heartbreaks of a pair of Broadway hoofers are Barbara Bennett, Bobby Watson. Ian Hunter, Morton Downey, Osgood Perkins, MacKenzie Ward, Verree Teasdale and Dorothy Lee.

India, Land of Seers, Sages, Temples, Peaks and Palaces, Where Moguls Design Like Titans and Finish Like Jewelers

A land of sages, saints and seers, of mysteries, marvels and martyrs, of temples, jungles, cults and mountain peaks, India continues to be one of the world's great fascinations. This giant peninsula, stretching from the arctic heights of the Himalayas to the very rim of the equator, contains more than a fifth of the world's population, 350,000,000 souls, who speak an aggregate of 147 languages and worship innumerable deities in a host of religions. The still unscaled Mount Everest looks down upon a land of faith, beauty, variety and contradiction There is the crowded life of Bombay, Madras and Calcutta, the jungle life of the Central Provinces and the high degree of architectural skill revealed by the shrines and memorials scattered over the country At Agra stands the thrice famous Taj Mahal, the most perfect piece of Mogul architecture. Built in 1632 by the emperor Sha Jahan to the memory of his favorite wife. it justifies the saying "the Moguls designed like Titans and finished like jewelers" The mausoleum inspired Lord Roberts to say "Go to India. The Taj alone is well worth the journey."

Since 1853 the Indian State Railways have made the fastnesses of India more and more accessible. Today there are 41,000 miles of track. The fastest long-distance train is the Frontier Mail, linking Peshawar with Bombay, 1450 miles away, while other expresses serve the major centers The growing popularity of round-the-world cruises has yearly increased the number of visitors who travel inland by the railway system. The liner Empress of Australia, sailing from New York Dec. 2 on the seventh annual Canadian Pacific World Cruise, affords her passengers a full week to explore the interior of India. Debarking at Bombay, the tourists proceed by special train to Delhi, site of seven former capitals of India, stopping enroute at Agra to visit the Taj Mahal. Optionally, there is also a spectacular across-India trip from Agra via Benares to Calcutta, whence the traveler proceeds by rail to Darjeeling and remains a day to ascend Tiger Hill for a view of the sunrise on snow-covered Mounts Everest and Kinchenjunga.

India, Land of Seers, Sages, Temples, Peaks and Palaces, Where Moguls Design Like Titans and Finish Like Jewelers

A land of sages, saints and seers, of mysteries, marvels and martyrs, of temples, jungles, cults and mountain peaks, India continues to be one of the world's great fascinations. This giant peninsula, stretching from the arctic heights of the Himalayas to the very rim of the equator, contains more than a fifth of the world's population, 350,000,000 souls, who speak an aggregate of 147 languages and worship innumerable deities in a host of religions. The still unscaled Mount Everest looks down upon a land of faith, beauty, variety and contradiction. There is the crowded life of Bombay, Madras and Calcutta, the jungle life of the Central Provinces and the high degree of architectural skill revealed by the shrines and memorials scattered over the country. At Agra stands the thrice famous Taj Mahal, the most perfect piece of Mogul architecture. Built in 1632 by the emperor Sha Jahan to the memory of his favorite wife, it justifies the saying "the Moguls designed like Titans and finished like jewelers." The mausoleum inspired Lord Roberts to say: "Go to India. The Taj alone is well worth the journey."

Since 1853 the Indian State Railways have made the fastnesses of India more and more accessible. Today there are 41,000 miles of track. The fastest long-distance train is the Frontier Mail, linking Peshawar with Bombay, 1450 miles away, while other expresses serve the major centers The growing popularity of round-the-world cruises has yearly increased the number of visitors who travel inland by the railway system. The liner Empress of Australia, sailing from New York Dec. 2 on the seventh annual Canadian Pacific World Cruise, affords her passengers a full week to explore the interior of India. Debarking at Bombay, the tourists proceed by special train to Delhi, site of seven former capitals of India, stopping enroute at Agra to visit the Taj Mahal. Optionally, there is also a spectacular across-India trip from Agra via Benares to Calcutta, whence the traveler proceeds by rail to Darjeeling and remains a day to ascend Tiger Hill for a view of the sunrise on snow-covered Mounts Everest and Kinchenjunga.
